Find out more about Edgewood.

We are working hard to make it easier for you to connect with residents of Edgewood. We have established several ways to stay in touch online. You can start at our main hub—the EdgewoodDC website. From there you have access to links to many other Edgewood and city services. You can also communicate with many Edgewood residents quickly and easily by sending one “posting” to the EdgewoodDC

Listserv. All of the Listserv members will receive your message. You can also see the beautiful architecture in Edgewood by clicking on the link for the EdgewoodDC Photo Archives on Flickr.

Perhaps you and others need to arrange a picnic. You need to decide who is bringing what. The EdgewoodDC WIKI is great for that, because it allows all the members to easily update and save changes to a single running list. So start planning that picnic today! Invite your friends! Hope to see you soon!

EdgewoodDC Blog

We will be featuring Alice Thompson (from the Mayor’s office) in our first blog. Alice has done much to help make our community even better. From arranging to have pot holes filled, to sending cleanup crews to cleanup alleys, to repairing broken fences, to having streets in disrepair repaved, Alice knows how to get things done. She has been instrumental in acting on behalf of Edgewood residents to bring city services to our community. Alice has moved on to another job and we will be talking about her new gig in our next blog. So log on and see what’s in store for our good friend Alice!
